Notes:

All students must take a total of 14 courses. When a course is used to fulfill more than one area, an additional major elective must be taken in order to complete the 42 credits. Advisors: please indicate electives in the column of total courses on the right.

See reverse page for the list of courses that fulfill areas 2, 4, and 5, and for courses that can be used to fulfill more than one area.

Course numbers for the surveys have been changed from the 200 to the 300 level. The course numbers that will appear on a student's degree progress report and transcript are those listed in the Master Course List for the semester in which that student has taken the course.

The requirement for admission to the combined concentration is a cumulative grade point average of 2.0 in AUR and general studies courses.

Only courses in which a grade of C or higher is earned will be applied to the major.

Literature Surveys (Area 2)

V marks indicate the area or areas each of the following courses fulfills. All 200, 300, and 400 courses (including those not listed here) may be taken as major elective credit. During certain semesters, the syllabus of a particular course will permit that course to be counted in an area for which it is not always listed. For example, if The Short Story in a given semester were to focus on works in translation and works with themes of race or gender, it would satisfy requirements in the international area as well as the Race, Gender, and Sexuality area. When the "Elective/Consult Instructor" box has been marked, advisors must consult the credit-distribution chart specific to the semester in which the student is taking the course, in order to assign credit on the major concentration sheet (or the course may be taken as major elective credit).
